The UK is a nation of animal lovers, and most homestay hosts have pets. Dogs and cats are the most common, but you could also expect to find guinea pigs, hamsters, fish, or indoor birds. Pets will not be allowed in your room unless you want them to, but they are otherwise treated as part of the family.

You must be prepared to accept this if you choose homestay accommodation. We can only guarantee a pet-free homestay host if you provide a medical certificate and give us at least 4 weeks' notice of your requirement.

If you do not want to live with pets, we recommend residential accommodation; you will live in a town-centre student residence with the guarantee of a private room and no pets in the building.

The prices on this page are set by independent business, and subject to change without notice.

Some residences ask you to pay a refundable damage deposit before you arrive; some also ask for a booking fee.

If you are asked to pay a deposit, it is important to understand how and when your money will be returned to you, and under what conditions.

Make sure you are clear about this before you sign an agreement; the school cannot be responsible for any deposit payment or refund, and cannot help you if you have signed a contract which you do not understand or agree to.

PLEASE NOTE

Homestay Accommodation and Residential Accommodation are very different; neither is better, but each has its own advantages and disadvantages. It is important that you think about what is right for you and your lifestyle.

We're very happy to organise homestay or residential accommodation for you; in both cases, we will manage your booking and act on your behalf. Our Accommodation Officer visits and inspects both homestay and residential accommodation, but the school does not manage or control where you live. Each homestay host will have their own house rules, and each residence is an independent business.

Homestay Accommodation is only available to full-time students studying for a minimum of 15 hours per week. Residential Accommodation is only available to students over the age of 18.

If you decide to organise your own accommodation privately, please be aware that you will be responsible for costs and complexities which we cannot help you with. You will need to consider your tenancy agreement, the cost of council tax, and all service charges (such as electricity, water, and gas).

You can read more about each option on our website.
